-34-The Arena League is one of the oldest amateur wrestling leagues in the world, and despite decades of growth, it still may not garner much national attention. This year's Arena League championship game will take place Saturday at the Monster Energy Arena. It has its own network, televised nationally on CBS Sports, and the league says more than 20 million viewers have watched the league since it began airing weekly five years ago. But the U.S. Olympic Committee doesn't recognize wrestling, and the NCAA doesn't even count it in its schools' varsity levels. Some of that could change. Wrestling is back in the Olympics next year. And after Friday's practices at Colorado State University, the NCAA announced it had added wrestling back to its varsity levels, which could put the NCAA and the Arena League in direct competition. "A lot of people think of wrestling," said Arena League Commissioner Joe Namath. "They think of guys going around a ring and fighting in a circle. You don't think of a fighter that wins a boxing match and then gets in the ring

Everyone has a different process for building their workout and diet plan. Each individual has his/her own idea of how they want to achieve their goals. I personally have a set plan, but sometimes it becomes evident that the program I have in place is not working for me. If you are looking to work out and develop a structured program you are working toward, I highly recommend doing the following: In order to make the following an easy checklist, I've provided one for you to review. Day: Morning: Lunch: Snack: Evening: Does this look like what you do each day? Are there obvious changes in your life? Here is how my exercise and diet program has evolved over the years. Day One: Starting Off Right Year One: [2019] Week One: Overall: My Goal: 3x

Weekly 1. I get up at 6:30 a.m. I normally have a cup of coffee, read articles on social media, and head out to work. I then begin my week by lifting and training weights for about 1 hour. I exercise about 2 or 3 times a week depending on my schedule. After this, I go to the gym and work on cardio for an hour. I work on cardio because the best way to lose weight is to burn fat, which cardio facilitates. After my workout and some stretching, I eat breakfast. I don't have a set diet, but I typically have a protein shake, a protein bar, and a handful of nuts. I also add a banana to my shake. Day Two:

Week Two: Overall: 2. I get up at 5:45 a.m. I normally have a cup of coffee, read articles on social media, and head out to work. I then begin my week by lifting and training weights for about 1 hour. I exercise about 2 or 3 times a week depending on my schedule. After this, I go to the gym and work on cardio for an hour.
