What's New in the?

► Viking Reminder Opera widget is an extension for the Opera web browser. ► Show the fixed date on which you want to receive an alarm. ► The alarm will be sent when you reach that date. ► The day can have different colour to indicate the situation: - Yellow: The day is normal. - Blue: The weather is good. - Red: The day is bad or you have a task to do. Some of the settings of the widget may be adjusted in the Opera Properties | Preferences window. In this window you can also turn on the reminder, adjust the settings and change the date. Additional settings: ► Run the Opera background periodically (daily, hourly or every 10 minutes) ► Turn on the transmission of data for the alarm via mobile phone ☐ Warning: The data transmission to mobile phone may cause an additional cost for the operator (from 1 to 5 cents per transmission). Viking Reminder Screenshot: By Tomasz Niedzwiedzki It's a well known fact that the main reasons why a large number of modern cars stopped on the streets are the issues with the air conditioner or the HVAC unit as it's often called. Besides a malfunction that will require you to replace it, what if your HVAC system is working perfectly but the air inside your car doesn't? Doesn't that just sound unfair? The basic elements in a car. Air Conditioning Air is the second most important component of the automobile because if it is not fresh, your car will not work properly. Thus, all vehicles have an air conditioning unit which ensures that the inside of your car is always fresh. You can check it by pressing the little button on the dashboard located near the driver's seat. In case the air conditioner is working correctly, it will turn on when you start the engine and get cold or hot air from the outside while you take a ride. However, if your air conditioner is not working correctly, it won't start up and you will feel the heat, be it warm or hot. However, if the air conditioner is not working it is already too late because if there is any opening in it, it will go directly to the outside of your car and your car will feel the extreme heat or cold. So, how do you notice this happening? You feel the difference inside your car because it will be hotter than before. It
